

FMA is a member of the Association for Progressive Communications, and one of the 12 country partners in the MDG3: Violence Against Women and ICT project.

4. Cyber Prostitution and Trafficking. The developments in ICTs have paved the way to bigger, wider, cross border and syndicated prostitution and trafficking operations in the Philippines. Several news reports have exposed so-called "cybersex-dens" where organised cybersex trade is run by syndicated criminals.

5. Online Pornography, is the most prevalent form of films and even live acts are made available through various media. With new ICTs, the increasing numbers on pornographic materials featuring women and children in sexually explicit and degrading acts is troubling.

6. ICT mediated VAW. Apart from VAW perpetrated by internet and mobile phone technology, there are VAW cases that use ICTs to facilitate commission of real life crimes. . Examples of these crimes are: Rape and Sexual Assault by Text or Chatmates, and Online Gaming.

What should girls and women do when experiencing eVAW?

Keep everything. As infuriating it might be to have to re-read those texts, it is still evidence.

Break-up and erase. When you break-up, make it a point to erase all suggestive images, photos or videos which could be later be used against you.
